TUESDAY, June 23-P. M.

Notwithstanding the large decline in the stock market during the last few months, still lower prices were touched to-day, and the market looked as gloomy as at any time since the year came in. There was a little firmness in the morning on the foreign advices, but this feeling was soon lost, and at and after the Second Board the figures show a lower stage of the market than has been seen for a very long time. Erie sold as low as 281, which is below any point touched since the re-organiztion of the Company. The market did not go as low as this since two years ago, when on the point of protest. Reading sold at 704 a 704. Central, 80]. Southern Michigan, 39], closing at 40, &c. With a few exceptions the whole list shows a decline, and Western shares are quite heavy. Harlem was one exception to the tendency of the market, showing an improvement of 12 $\psi$ cent, and Illinois Central was another, going to 129 bid, having sold yesterday at 126]. There is no marked change in railroad bonds or stocks, but the tendency is downward.

The mail for the steamer to-morrow will not be a large one, the demand for Exchange having been quite limited with a good supply of bills offering. rates show, under this quiet state of the market, a decline of | 2 | $\psi$ cent on sterling. Flour has improved 10 a 15c.; Wheat, 1 22c., &c. In other merchandise there is little or no change. Groceries remain dull, with the exception of Teas, in which there is some speculative action. Cotton has an improving appearance under the foreign advices, and some 2,000 bales sold at 141 a 14je. for Middlings. The receipts at all points for the week under review are only 9,000 bales against the same amount in the corresponding week last year, and we cannot expect more in the next weekly tables. The total receipts for the year are 2,869,000 bales, against 3,414,000 last year; showing a deficiency of 545,000 bales, same as last week. The exports continue light, and for the week amount to 19,000 bales; being 15,000 to Great Britain, 2,000 to France, and 2,000 to other ports. The deficiency in exports as compared with last year, now amount to 700,000 bales, of which there falls upon Great Britain, 492,000; upon France, 104,000, and upon the Continental ports, 104,000. Stocks at all points are about 252,000 bales, showing, notwithstanding the short crop and present small receipts, an increase of 39,000 bales over last year at same date. Of the 96,000 bales at New-Orleans, about 20,000 are on pard ship for Great Britain, and about 12,000 for Continental ports. The annexed statistics are from Neill Bros.'s Circu-

Hence the crop has continued to make good progress, though it is still a fortulaght later in most districts, and three to four weeks late in places which suffered most from the three to four weeks late in places which the could backward Spring.

We submit the following extracts from late Southern advices other than those of our own partners at New-Orleans and Mobile, which will be found in their paper:

We also hear from various parts of Texas of Cotton being generally in bloom as early as the 10th inst. and a few exceptional blooms are reported in the more advanced spots as far north as Corvolation.

erally in bloom as early as the 10th inst. and a lew exceptional blooms are reported in the more advanced spots as far nowth as Ocorgia.

The possibilities as to the ultimate result of the crop take a very wide range—so wide that any predictions on the subject are only a waste of words. The longer we go on, the more evidence we find as to the great extent of the area planted. The step forward in this direction has been greatly beyond that of any former season in the history of the trade. To give this extension three causes have combined: Firstly, An early conclusion of the picking out of the previous crop (and it was during the past Winternet to two mouths earlier than usual); Secondly, A fine open Winter, permitting field labor in clearing new land; and thirdly, the ine artive of high prices. The result has been so great an increase that, with an ordinarily favorable season, the cry for more Cotton would have been responded to very liberally. From its present backward condition, however, consequent upon the cold Spring, it is necessary, to insure anything like an average return to the acre that the remainder of the Summer and Fall should be unusually favorable, and that the growing casen should be protracted by a late frost to two or three weeks atten usual. With such advantages as those, we think a large crop would yet be possible; but, on the other hand, we must admit that an early frost would cause an manual amount of damage. No colution of the question need, therefore, be attempted till the date of the first killing frost, and the them condition of the crop be accertained.

The financial writer of The Manchester Guardian, at London, says:

"From inquiries made, it appears that a large portion of the gold lately strived will go abroad again. The silk houses are dispatching silver to China in large portions, both from here and from France, and he silver markets on the continent are beginning to est the effects of this competition and drain.

"The supposition that the Bank of England would lower the rate of interest to-day has not been realized, and, as we observed yesterday, it is very problematical if such a step will be taken at present, not with standing that the Bank of France is not unlikely to resort to that measure in support of the Government at the present crisis of the elections, and that the stock of bullion is here likewise daily accumulating by daily deliveries in Threadneedle street. The surest guide to the operations of the Bank Directors will now be the weekly return of the Bank Directors will now be the weekly return of the Bank's position. Before it will be safe for the minimum rate of the establishment to be lowered the amount of the 'Other securities' must be reduced, or the reserve of notes must sensibly increase. One of the most favorable indications of the lately altered state of affairs is the rate of exchange on the United States upon England, whereby we are now in receipt, by every mail, of a large supply of gold."

The return from the Bank of England for the week The return from the Bank of England for the week ending the 6th of June gives the following results, ending the one of the whole of the previous week:

Public deposits $2,706,809 Decrease $772,450
Other deposits $796,336 Increase $70,877
Rest. $3,321,818 Increase 19,481 in both departments is £10,290,640 showing an increase of £258,247, when compared with the preceding The suspension has been announced of Messre. W. Mackintosh & Co., of Manchester, with liabilities supposed to amount to £100,000, of which about £40,000 fall on London.

The suspension is announced of the bank of Messrs. Gotch & Sons, of Kettering. The firm was an old one, having been established sixty-five years back, but one, having been established sixty-five years back, but its liabilities are not supposed to be very large. It was a bank of issue, with a circulation limited under the act of 1844 to £2,192, and according to the last-published returns its total of notes out was £3,792. The bank was in difficulties in 1825, from which it recovered, but for some time lately its position had again been regarded as doubtful.

The suspension of Messrs. Evans, Hoar & Co., a firm largely engaged in the Australian export trade, is announced. Their shipments, which consisted of beer, wines and spirits, are believed to have been on a scale much beyond their available capital, and the prospects of the creditors will, it is presumed, greatly depend upon future advices as to realizations effected. According to some accounts the liabilities of the house amount to £200,000, but the most reliable estimates place them at about £150,000.

In the Stock Exchange, as well as in the discount market and at the Bank of England, there was a considerable pressure for money throughout the day, 6½ even being the lowest rate.

In the foreign exchanges this afternoon the rates for Hamburg and Paris were a shade higher, but Amsterdam remained the same as last post.

The final quotations of the French Three & Cents on the Paris Bourse this evening were 68f, 40c, for money and 68f, 65c, for the end of the month, showing an improvement of ½ cent.

Letters from Melbourne say that Letters from Melbourse say that

The production and export of gold, however, which is generally accepted here as a thermometer of our prosperity, still keep fully up to the average. The quantity by escort for the first three months of the year was 57, 338 ounces, and the quantity exported 719,631 ounces, £3,878,524. This is The Argus's account. Kuhli's statement of the export exceeds £3,600,600.

The Liverpool Times of Friday evening says:

Much attention has recently been paid by the som-mercial world generally, and by capitalists in this country in particular, to the position of the Bank of France, owing to the great drain of gold from England France, owing to the great drain of gold from England to enable her to maintain her reputation, at periods when from scarcity of the precious metal, short arrivals, and high rates for money, more than its value had frequently to be paid. A change, however, has now taken place, and the returns published in the Meniteur for the month ending yesterday show an increase in cash in hand of 15,725,000 francs in Paris, and 34,635,000 francs in the branch banks. Its favorable position, it was believed, would cause a reduction in the rate of discount from 6 $\vec{v}$ cent, at which it has stood for nearly ten months, to 5\vec{v}$ $\vec{v}$ cent. This belief was however premature, and though disappointment has been felt by many speculators the step has been met by general approval. Many rumors are affoat, which must be cautiously received, among others that the newly-appointed Governor of the Bank, M. de Germiny, was quite opposed to any reduction in the sets of discount but that one of the first acts of his the rate of discourt, but that one of the first acts of his administration will be to enter into another contract with the Messrs. Rothschild for the purchase of £1,000,000 of gold in London.

The Money market is easier and the supply improved, but the Bank minimum rate of discount remains without change at 6 % cent. The large purchases of gold out of the recent supplies, which cannot fall far short of three-quarters of a million sterling, by the Directors of the Bank, have led to the strong belief in monetary circles that, at an early date, a reduction will be announced. Indeed, many parties were sarguine enough to believe that such a step would be taken at their "Parlour" yesterday, but were earguine enough to believe that such a step would be taken at their "Parlour" yesterday, but caution has still to be observed, especially as the Bank has renewed making advances on stock, which may lyad to a resumption of the active outward de-mand of the precious metals. It is clear, however, that an early relaxation may be looked for. The de-mand has been moderate both at the Bank and "out of doors;" and at the discount houses first-class short-dated paper has been easily negotiated under the minimum bank rate. Owen, the first director captured, is bailed on his own recognizances of £4,000 and two sureties of £2,000 each, and it is understood that similar bail will be accepted in the case of the other directors. Some of the persons implicated are in Paris, but they are so completely under the surveillance of the police that escape is impossible. It is expected that Mr. Cameron, the manager, will be arrested in Paris traveling with a faise passport, and wher that charge is disposed of he will be handed over to the British authorities, as the extractition treaties include the crimes of treason, murder and commercial fraud, and the cases of the directors of the Royal British Bank have been acknowledged by the French authorities as coming within the last-named offerse, which is justly condemned by the comity of nations. THE HARVEST IN FRANCE.—The accounts received The Harvist in France.—The accounts received from the various parts of France lead to the belief that the crops this year will give a most abundant produce. The rain which fell some short time back, far from doing harm, has kept the growing corn in a most desiral le state of freshness, and its luxuriance is at present quire unusual. As to the vines, the growers are agreed in opinion that the frosts which occurred late in the Spring were attended with but little damage. The news from the departments of the vineyards continue to be highly satisfactory, and hopes seem at last well founded of a fair supply of wine this year. wine this year.
